

"Human growth is like a seed that must be planted, watered, nurtured and kissed by warmth.
When all of the proper elements are in place, that small thing that is inside will begin to grow, blossom and flourish."

by Keith Glenn McGee